

GOALS

- To provide a safe, trusting structured environment in which the student will understand through experience that he/she can learn.
- To emphasize the knowledge, skills, values, attitudes, and behavior that will enable effective participation in the student's world as they reach for their God-given potential.
- To train them to become independent learners by fostering a positive attitude toward becoming an active learner, by teaching good study habits, by being committed to self-discipline and working through the curriculum.
- To enable students to return to the regular classroom (probably with continued NILD therapy for sometime), when it is appropriate for their best interest.
